Holiday movie hits correct chords

By Jacqueline Cutler
TV DATA FEATURE WRITER

Just as surely as red velvet ribbons and candy canes will appear this month, so will meaningful Christmas movies. For the cynical, these films are easy targets because of their sometimes cheap sentimentality.

Other times, however, they hit just the right chords. CBS' "The Christmas Shoes," airing Sunday, Dec. 1, is such a film. Rob Lowe ("The West Wing") plays an ambitious lawyer who gets a life lesson from a dying woman and her son. Though predictable and heavy on the heartstrings, it is as welcome as the season's first cup of eggnog.

"If you have any predisposition whatsoever to the plight of kids, you are going to be swept away by this movie," Lowe says. "When I got the script, it could have gone either way. It could have been a very special episode of 'Providence,' or it could have been what we ultimately accomplished. It has more in common with ordinary people than it does with 'Touched by an Angel.' ... I was interested in exploring the minutiae of a family falling apart, and to do it in an unblinking way."

Lowe plays Robert Layton, an attorney so consumed by work that he ignores all else, including his family.

Robert's pursuit of money and status have skewed his priorities. When a bigger house he long has coveted goes on the market, he badgers his stay-at-home wife, Kate (Maria Del Mar, "Outer Limits"), to return to work.

New music dominates concert special

By Jacqueline Cutler

NBC's "An Evening With the Dixie Chicks" is such unbridled joy that even folks whose musical tastes tend toward opera, jazz or blues are bound to become converts to this rockin' brand of country music.

The one-hour special, airing Tuesday, Dec. 10, is culled from two concerts held Aug. 15 and 16 at the Kodak Theater in Los Angeles.

Most of the songs are from the trio's latest CD, "Home," which was released in August and went triple platinum within two months.

"We did throw in a couple of the old tunes, but not too many because it was basically new music," says Martie Maguire, who plays fiddle and mandolin. "I was really impressed as to how the audience took to the new music."

The special kicks off with "Long Time Gone," and from the first twang of the banjo, the audience is completely in sync with the Chicks as they segue into Stevie Nicks' "Landslide."

"I heard this song my whole life and it never affected me like when I was 27," singer Natalie Maines tells the audience. "I spoke to Stevie Nicks, and she said she wrote it at 27."

Maines' beautiful rendition of this song seems to float in the air.

Clad in black, the Chicks are nothing short of terrific.

Sisters Maguire and Emily Robison grew up playing instruments and formed the band in 1989. Maines joined in 1995.

Soap synopsis

All My Children

Jake and Mia overheard Liza admitting her role in Mia's fall to Tad. When David claimed he might be able to restore Maria's memory in exchange for her not helping Jack to prosecute him, Maria refused but Edmund secretly offered to pay whatever it costs to get her memory back. Laurie's father, Donny, blamed Adam for ruining his life and warned J.R. to stay away from Laurie. However, J.R. told Laurie he intends to keep seeing her.

Next week: David makes threats against Aidan.

As the World Turn

Ben was devastated after Marshall presented him with a tape of Jessica's infidelity. Henry demanded a payment to keep silent about Carly's tryst with Mike. Rosanna learned that she needs surgery, which will leave her unable to have children. Lucy and Aaron made love. Later, Hal tracked the teens and learned they were with Craig and Holden, who had brought news of the evidence clearing Aaron.

Next week: Craig and Holden offer support to Aaron.

The Bold and the Beautiful

After Deacon threatened to expose their affair to Ridge, Brooke bribed him to stay away. Deacon bitterly accepted her offer, but vowed that he wasn't getting out of Brooke's life that easily. Massimo hit it off with Thomas, Steffy and Phoebe. The Forresters witnessed Tricia and Thorne's kiss. Ridge convinced Bridget to come with him and the children to Italy. The mysterious Lorenzo read a newspaper story about the Portofino Challenge and was clearly disturbed by it. As Lorenzo returned to his restaurant, a hauntingly familiar voice was singing in the background.

Next week: A voice from the past comes to life.

Days of Our Lives

Brady and Chloe finally made love. Meanwhile, Nancy's medical condition worsened and the doctors might have to take the baby to save her life. Sami overheard that Lexie is pregnant. Larry revealed that he's been pulling Raymond Grant's strings and that Colin has been working for Larry all along. Following a shoving match with Hope and getting tongue-lashed by Bo, Billie called someone, asking for a favor. Tony got a clue from a Poe story how to decipher Stefano's journal. Kate and Roman gave in to their desire and became intimate.

Next week: Nicole and Victor plan their wedding.

General Hospital

In order to protect Brenda, Jax confessed that he killed Alcazar. Although Scott didn't want to let Brenda go free, the mounting evidence forced Scott to arrest Jax. Skye got drunk and hit someone with her car. After Kristina underwent life-saving surgery, Alexis thanked Ned and said he will be a part of the baby's life. Although suspicious of Ric, Sonny hired him to dig up dirt on Scott. Luke hired Summer and had her re-enact special times he spent with Laura. While trying to protect who he thought was Summer, Luke was arrested by an undercover cop. Jason and Courtney made love, but he was distant afterward.

Next week: Brenda tries to push Sonny's buttons.

Guiding Light

Beth forgave Olivia for publishing Lorelei's diary but wouldn't forgive her for the pain it caused Lizzie. Marina tried convincing Buzz to hire Ben at Company, but Ben refused to admit that he's broke and turned down the job. Josh remained opposed to Marah's relationship with Tony.

Next week: Michelle struggles with forgiveness.

One Life to Live

Natalie shocked Cristian by announcing that she's staying married to Mitch, not mentioning she's doing so because Mitch threatened to kill Cristian if she leaves him. Mitch and Jen considered striking a deal to help each other obtain their desires. Hoping to induce enough guilt to make Asa divorce Rae, Renee faked a nervous breakdown, but it backfired. Finding Lindsay touching him as he awoke,

Next week: Viki and Bo try to protect Natalie.

Passions

Resigned to losing Sheridan to Antonio, Luis accepted Beth's marriage proposal, but made it clear he would be marrying Sheridan if she were free. Crushed by Grace's decision to give Charity her old wedding gown, Kay disavowed her mother. Ken then accused Miguel of using her. Sam reconnected with Grace. Theresa's conversation with Father Lonigan put a sudden halt to Ethan and Gwen's wedding plans, as Theresa again risked everything to try to get Ethan back.

Next week: Liz flirts with T.C.

Port Charles

Kevin claimed to have been released from the mental institution but later made a cryptic call showing that his recovery is just an act. Alison was devastated to learn from Elizabeth that she brought Caroline - presumably the mother of Alison's sister - to town as part of her scheme. Livvie felt certain that Stephen is really Caleb when he called her Olivia, and she turned up naked in his bed to greet him. Tess continued to experience Livvie's memories.

Next week: Elizabeth gets ready to strike.

The Young and the Restless

Victoria told Diego what happened to him, then accused Victor of being responsible for Diego's injuries. After Nick intervened with Cassie, Sharon wanted to get close to him again, but Nick still couldn't get past her tryst with Diego. Larry and Jill had finally agreed to put the past behind them when John called her to say that Larry is suing Jabot for half a million dollars on sexual harassment charges. When Ashley found out that Dru had watched the tape, she knew she had to tell Brad before someone else did.

Next week: Phyllis fears a lengthy jail sentence.

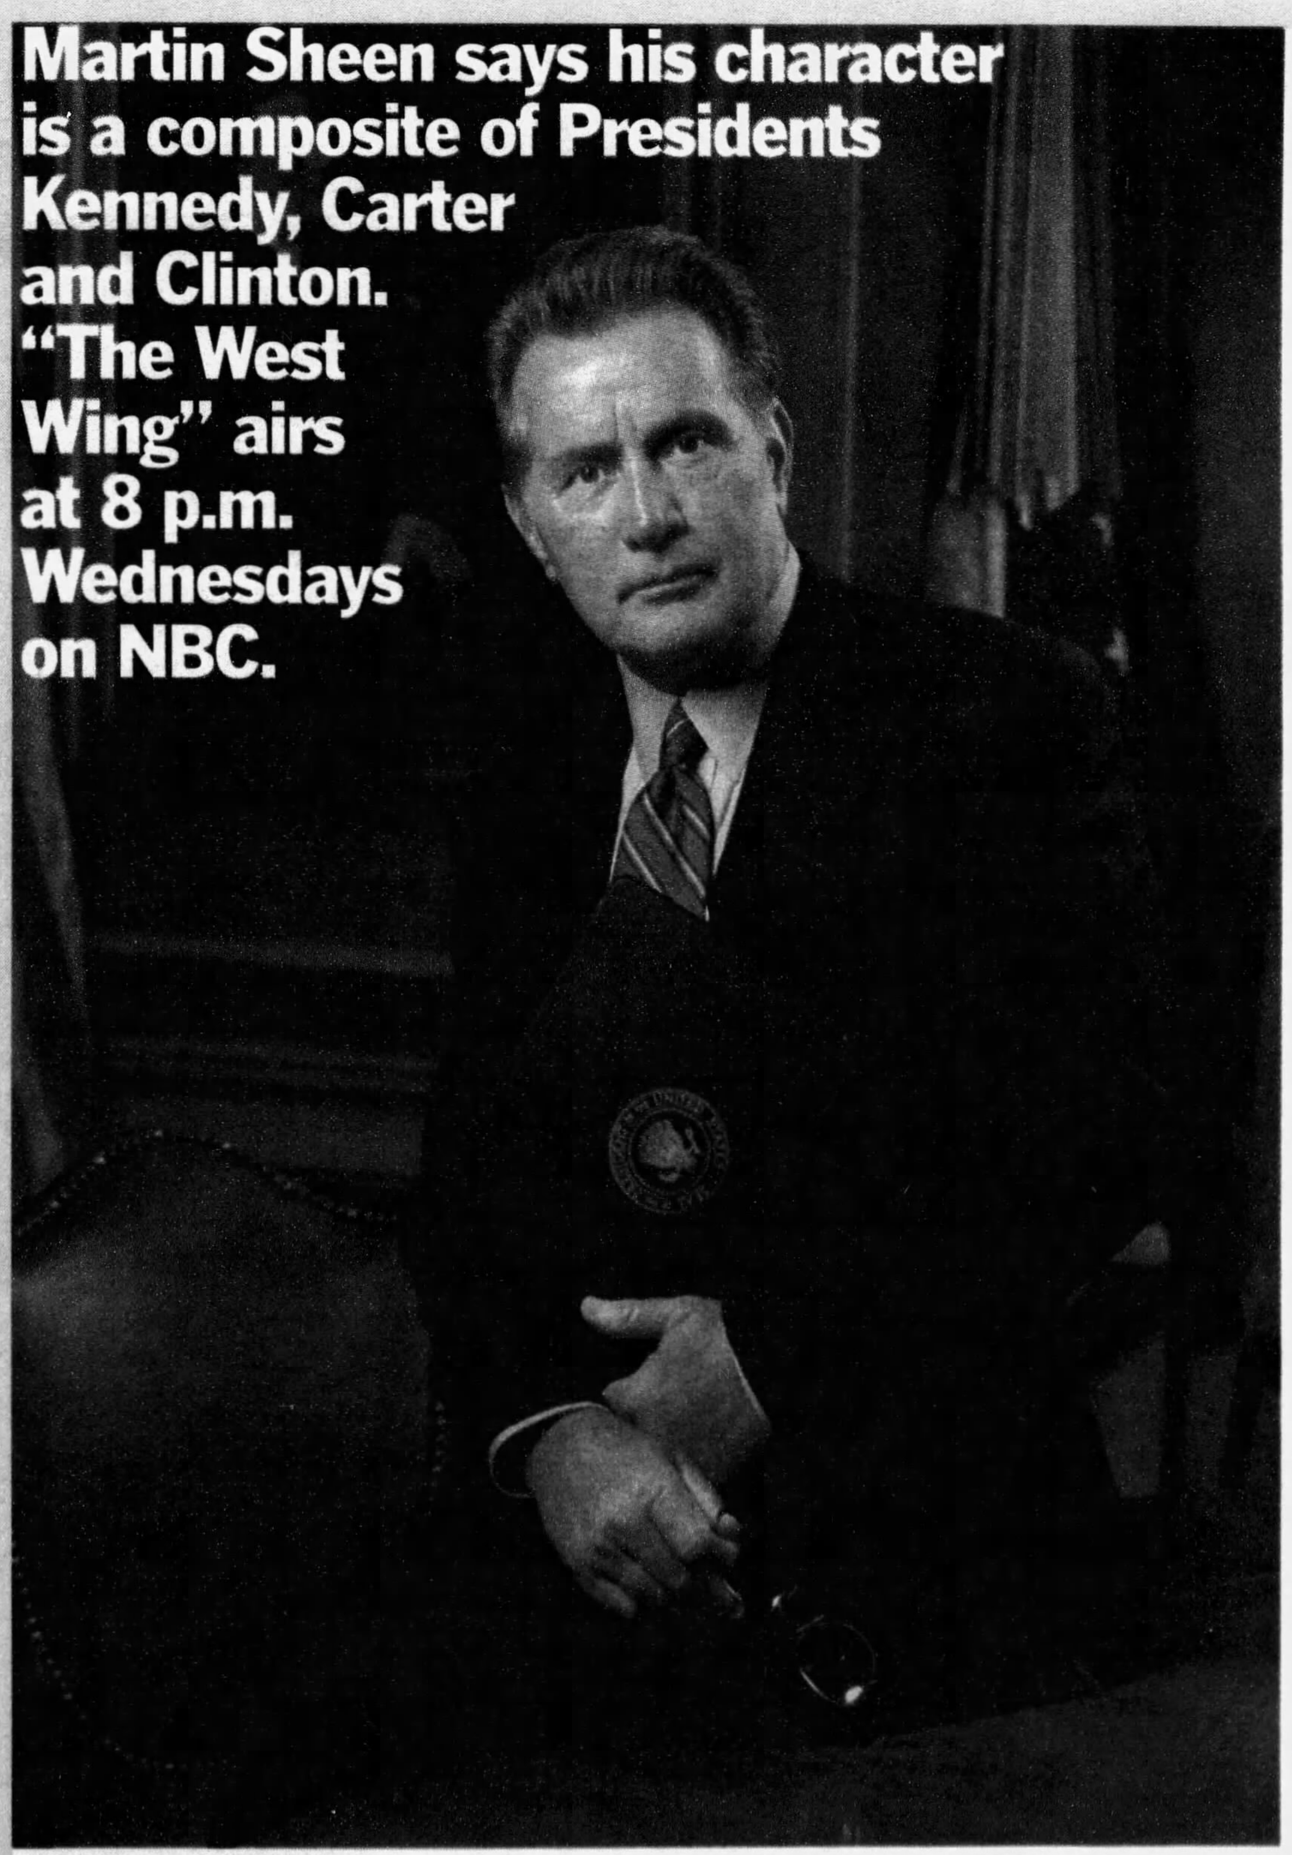
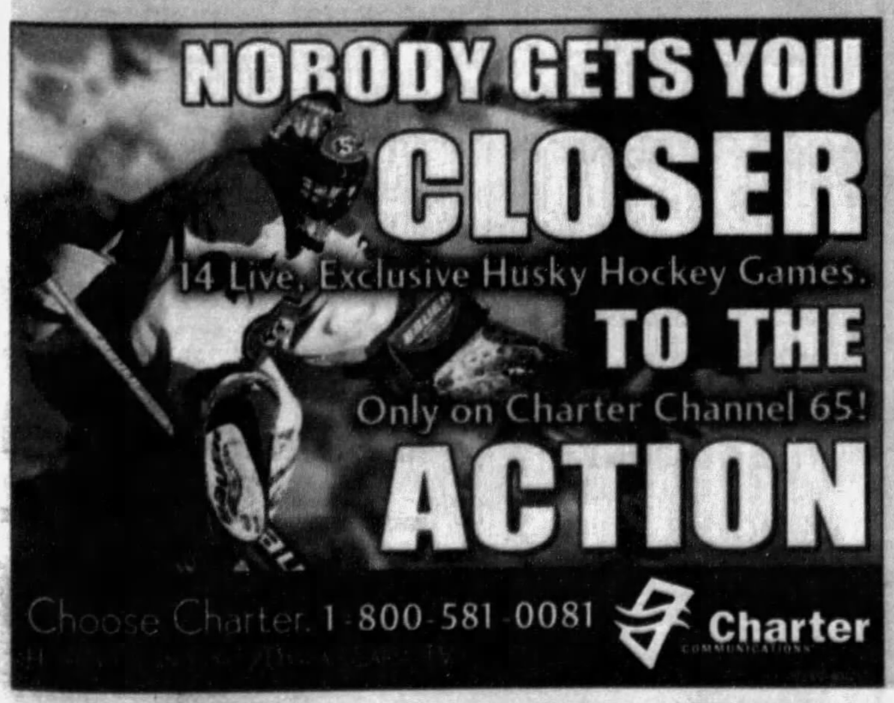
Martin Sheen says his character is a composite of Presidents Kennedy, Carter and Clinton. "The West Wing" airs at 8 p.m. Wednesdays on NBC.





Sheen reinvents career with role

By Jacqueline Cutler

Zap2it

At a formal affair, where well-heeled men and women sip cocktails on a balcony, Martin Sheen is disheveled, looking more like someone who would be tossed out of the Oval Office than like President Josiah Bartlet on NBC's "The West Wing."

Sheen confides that he "borrowed the suit from work." The tails of the once-ironed shirt hang free over expensive pants, his tie is askew, and his hair looks as if it were combed with a rake.

At 62, he has a reinvigorated career. "At this point in my life, if anyone had told me that I would be doing this show and in the position I am right now, I wouldn't have believed it," Sheen says. "I have never been happier in my life or more satisfied with my career or work, and the people I work with, or the woman I am married to. She is my trophy wife of 41 years."

He tucks into a plate of ribs in the privacy of his Winnebago on the Warner Brothers lot in Burbank. Grandson Taylor, Sheen's assistant for two years, lovingly teases him, saying part of his job is "keeping dessert away from him."

Sheen relishes having family around. He was one of 10 children, reared by an Irish mother and Spanish father in Dayton, Ohio. He was 11 when his mother died, and he had already been working for two years.

"I caddied until I left home," Sheen says. "It has stood me very well because as a child I got to see the difference in our culture, in our society, between the haves and the have-nots. I was part of the labor force that served the rich. And to this day, I cannot belong to a private club. I would love to belong to a club, but for me personally, it would be immoral because I know better."

Bobek's retirement suits skater

By George Dickie

Zap2it

The Champions on Ice tour is just fine for Nicole Bobek, thank you very much.

Yes, the U.S. Olympic figure skater who retired from amateur competition after a nightmarish performance at the 1998 Winter Games in Nagano, Japan, is done with the mental and physical grind of training for that one life-or-death moment on the ice.

Of course, you probably would be, too, if you fell several times during your Olympic short program, winding up in 17th place in both the short and free-skate programs. But this is a woman who is four-plus years removed from that experience. At age 25, she knows herself a little better. And what she wants now is to enjoy herself on the ice.

"I've been a little bit different than most skaters because I was never very competitive," Bobek says. "And I guess when you're in the competitive sport, it's a little bit hard when you're not a competitive person. ... I think everybody has their own abilities and their own specialities. I would never want to be a judge. I don't know how I would be able to judge. So I think skating became very hard and very stressful. And you started to just dread skating. You hated to go and practice every day and drill yourself. And I love skating. I've skated since I was 3, and I didn't want to reach that point where it was horrible for me."

And so she became a professional. She'll be appearing at 7p.m. Christmas Day in an NBC special, "Holiday Celebration on Ice," where she will skate to the live music of classical crossover artist Charlotte Church, who will perform her own compositions along with yuletide classics.

'Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve'

By Jay Bobbin
Zap2it

You can always count on Dick Clark for a date on New Year's Eve.

The veteran TV personality's "New Year's Rockin' Eve" special has been a viewing tradition for three decades, and there's no reason for it to stop now, especially since ABC can count on the show to deliver strong ratings.

Clark will hold forth again Tuesday at his traditional New York post in Times Square, starting his 31st annual celebration with a prime-time hour. Steve Doocy ("Fox and Friends") and Mario Lopez, one of Clark co-host's on the syndicated series "The Other Half," will report on things happening around the city. Highlights of 2002 concert tours by Alabama, Coldplay, LL Cool J and the Who will be included.

Following late local newscasts, "Rockin' Eve" resumes for another 90 minutes, with Ali Landry ("Spy TV") introducing music acts in Hollywood. The roster includes Rod Stewart, Missy Elliott, Nelly, Third Eye Blind, Uncle Kracker, B2K, Nivea and O-Town. Back on the East Coast, Clark will continue to brave the chill to count down to the new year. Then, Clark, Landry and several of the performers will return for an hourlong finale special.

This time last year, emotional and psychological wounds from the Sept. 11, 2001 terrorist attacks were fresh. "We attempted to get back to business as usual last year," Clark recalls, "but obviously, there was tension in the air. This year, I think it'll just be our normal party with the usual potpourri of artists. It's a reflection of what's happened in music in the past year, and maybe a look forward to what'll be going on next. Nelly is hotter than all get-out right now."
